Stay Virtually Connected with your OLLI Friends on Facebook

Connecting socially is such an important part of the OLLI experience, and we've developed a way for you to "get together" with one another while we're all staying safe at home. A new private group has been launched on Facebook just for our member community!

The group will serve as a virtual gathering place for you and fellow members to discuss a variety of topics – from tips to staying busy at home to discussions about what you’re learning, reading and watching. We look forward to welcoming you to the group very soon!

If you're not a Facebook user, you will need to create a free Facebook account.

Simply reply to this e-mail to let us know you want to join, and we will send you an invitation! Some of you had trouble with the link last week -- we apologize for the difficulty.

SC 207 A Geologic Travelogue: Understanding the Wonders (Part 1 of 2)

The Galapagos Islands & New Zealand

Monday, April 20

10 AM - 12 Noon

Gary Oberts, Geologist

This class takes you on a trip with a geologist to four locations that you might have visited, or have in mind for a future visit. The beauty and geologic history responsible for it will be viewed and explained. We will explore the cliffs of Ireland, the volcanic islands of the Galapagos, the wild coast of Tasmania, and the tectonic impacts in New Zealand. Whether you have some knowledge of geology or not, we hope to enhance your appreciation of these locations.

---An interactive class lecture---

Email your questions for Surviving Your Hospital Stay by end of the day on Monday, April 20 to sherrilynn@audiblerush.com

Tuesday, April 21

1:30 - 3:30 PM

Ariana Langlely

Chief Operating Officer,

Patient Safety Movement Foundation

Medical errors are the third leading cause of death in America, but errors in hospitals are preventable. From infections to being given the wrong dose of medicine, to blood clots and falls, this course will present the top preventable dangers and provide tools and resources to help you be better prepared as a patient or an advocate.

We will also take questions during the presentation.

Questions may include any issues around coronavirus, masks, protecting yourself, when to go to hospital, etc.

SS 309 The Contentious Debate
Over U.S. Immigration Policy -
Part 1 of 2

Thursday April 23

10 AM – 12 Noon

Louis DeSipio

Author, Professor of Political Science, UCI

What would it take for congress to summon the political will to craft a "comprehensive" immigration policy? The U.S. Congress has the constitutional power and responsibility to enact laws pertaining to immigration and naturalization. In recent decades it has been unable to agree on the compromises necessary to reach agreements on major issues. The cause of this failure lies in the deep divisions in national and state politics, the courts, the media, the blogosphere and communities.

SS 308 Tensions Between the U.S.,
Russia and China - Part 2 of 3

Friday, April 24

1:00 PM – 3:00 PM

Thomas Bernstein

Professor Emeritus

Political Science, Columbia University

Could current tensions between the United States, Russia and China lead to a second Cold War? The three countries played key roles in the first cold war, 1947-1991. When the Soviet Union disintegrated in the early 1990s, people were hopeful that a new era of friendship had begun. We will examine the first Cold War, and then ask why tension in recent years could amount to a second Cold War.
