2020 Osher Institutes Membership Study Questionnaire – University of California, Irvine

Dear OLLI at UC Irvine members,

If you haven't yet completed this survey, please consider doing so now.

Periodically we like to take a demographic snapshot of the OLLI community at programs across the country and OLLI at University of California, Irvine has been selected to participate. The information we gather in this survey will help the administration locally and nationally understand who attends our programs and will also help with future planning. You are being invited to take the survey because you have attended programs or events at your local OLLI.

The survey is online and has 24 questions. It will take you about 10 minutes to complete. Your participation is anonymous since we are not asking for any names or identifying information. Participation is entirely voluntary.

The person in charge of this research study is Steve Thaxton, the Executive Director of the Osher National Resource Center at Northwestern University. If you have questions about this survey you may contact Steve at 312-503-4049 or email address:

steve.thaxton@northwestern.edu.

Click HERE to attend this class.

What happens when we have an injury and our bodies react to repair themselves? In this lecture we will examine the four phases of wound healing: hemostasis, inflammation, tissue proliferation and maturation/remodeling. The role of inflammation will be considered, and we will explore specific issues related to the rate of healing including peripheral artery disease and diet. We will also examine therapies to speed healing such as platelet-rich plasma (PRP) and hyperbaric oxygen.

Presenter/ Developer: Vern Roohk, Ph.D., Physiology and Biochemistry, University of California, Davis

As one who survived Nazi occupation of Romania as a Jewish teenager, Dr. Moran has first-hand experience with the evolution of Nazi dictatorship and implementation of the Holocaust. Between 1933 and 1945, the Nazis and their collaborators tortured and killed six million Jews, and millions of other Minorities and “undesirables.” In reviewing its causes, we will explore how such horror might be avoided.

Tuesday, October 20: Post-WW II and related world events

Tuesday, October 27: Nazi-era perspective before and during WW II

Presenter: Edgar M. Moran, M.D., Emeritus Professor of Medicine

SC 206

INFINITE FRUSTRATION: The Human Side of Science

Wednesdays, October 21, 28;

November 4, 18

10:00 AM – 12:00 Noon

Click HERE to attend this class.

As a child, did you ever lie on your back and look at the night sky trying to imagine stars beyond the ones you could see, and more stars beyond them, and on and on forever? We have no personal experiences that can serve as an analogue of forever, whether of time or space. The infinitely large and small remain mysteries to human comprehension. We examine the need to cope with the infinite, and the 3,000-year history of Western philosophers, mathematicians and scientists to harness the infinite to meet humanity’s intellectual capabilities.

Presenter/Developer: Howard Mirowitz, MBA, Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania, manages a private venture fund, teaches at UCI’s Merage School of Business.
