AMERICAN

This six-class series is a fun, interactive adventure in reading and discussing renowned American short stories.

Participants choose a favorite story from the text, develop questions, and lead the discussion. Guidance for developing discussion questions and sample questions will be available.

The textbook is The Scribner Anthology of Contemporary Short Fiction (2nd Edition), edited by Lex Williford and Michael Martone, available on Amazon in paperback and as an e-book.

We all want to communicate clearly and effectively in writing and in speech, but we can't rely on Microsoft Word to be our copy editor. This course addresses the common grammatical and usage errors that often lead to comical, embarrassing and sometimes disastrous results.

The two sessions will include punctuation, run-on sentences, tautological phrases, pronouns, subject-verb agreement, dangling participles and misplaced modifiers, and prepositions. Audio-visual aids, wordplay and humor ensure that snoozing is not an option. By popular demand, this is the beginning of a repeat of this 3-term, 7-session course, but new material has been added.

AH 111 Format B/C EVOCATIVE MUSIC (Session 3 of 3)

Wednesday, December 21
10:00 AM - 12:00 PM

Presenter:
Steve Weinstein, B.A. English

Music can provoke strong emotions, but sometimes music is designed to make you see, hear or feel something physical: the weather (such as wind, thunder or lightning); aspects of nature (such as a mountain, a river, the sea, sunrise or moonlight); animals (such as a bumblebee, birds, snakes, cats, dogs or mules); or travel, including modes of transportation (such as boats, trains or automobiles) and destinations (such as Spain, the Austrian Alps, or the Grand Canyon). This course will show you how composers use music to create sensory experiences.

Wednesday, December 21
Evocative classical music about:

- Animals (cont.)—Cats/Dogs, Mules/Donkeys
- Travel: Modes of Transportation—Horses, Boats, Trains, Autos, Planes
- Travel: Destinations—Spain, Norway, Argentina, Austrian Alps, Russia
